DIAMOND HEAD, March 5, 10 P. M.
 Weather, clear; wind, light N.
 Ship Kenilworth bound in.

WEATHER BUREAU REPORT. Mar. 5, 9 P. M.—Temperature, 66°; dew point, 64°; barometer, 30.02. Prospects, fine weather.

The Rio de Janeiro mail was left on Wilder's wharf yesterday and from there transferred to the City of Peking.

The whaling bark Gayhead in command of her new master, Foley, sailed from San Francisco on a whaling trip, Feb. 21st.

The following vessels have left Newcastle for this port: Feb. 4—bark Fortuna with 2060 tons of coal; Feb. 14—ship C. F. Sargeant with 2038 tons of coal.

A reward of $10 was offered for the capture of a bluejacket from the Adams yesterday morning. Several policemen were out on his trail but John Kaaua happened to be the fortunate one and nabbed his man in Fowler's Yard. He said he had just come off the Adams a few minutes previous, but the bluff didn't work.

The S. S. Alameda, Van Oterendorp commander, arrived early yesterday morning from the Colonies. Following is Purser Sutton's report: Sailed from Sydney Feb. 17 at 3:30 p.m.; arrived at Auckland Feb. 21 at 3 p.m.; sailed from Auckland Feb. 22 at 2:50 p.m.; arrived at Apia Feb. 26 at 11 a.m.; sailed from Apia Feb. 26 at 4 p.m.; arrived at Honolulu Feb. 5 at 5 a.m. Had fine weather throughout the voyage.

While Charles Oponui, Moau, John Fernandez and Kahalelau, four policemen, were on the City of Peking buying cigars yesterday morning the steamer hauled out to make room for the Rio de Janeiro. The men thought they were in for a trip to Japan and almost cried to think that they were leaving Hawaii and poi. They were very much relieved to find that the steamer would anchor outside and that they could be returned in the pilot boat.

The steamship Chiyoda Maru, Tishikawa master, arrived in port yesterday morning, 19 days from Yokohama with a cargo of general merchandise. The Chiyoda Maru comes consigned to Theo. H. Davies & Co. and brings a total of 737 Japanese passengers divided as follows: 599 men, 129 women and 9 children. The 605 contract laborers divided as follows: 487 men, 113 women and 5 children. The free laborers number 132, divided into 112 men, 16 women and 4 children. The Chiyoda Maru will leave for Yokohama on Monday.

The following vessels have arrived at San Francisco from various ports on the Hawaiian Islands. Feb. 14—Hawaiian bark Santiago, 27 days from Hilo via Honolulu, 23 days; Feb. 16—British steamer Monowai, 7 days and 13 hours and schooner Transit, 17 days from Honolulu; Feb. 17—barkentine Willie R. Hume and schooner Robert Lewers, each 20 days from Honolulu; Feb. 18—schooner John D. Tallant, 29 days from Kahului; Feb. 20—Hawaiian bark Andrew Welch, 20 days from Honolulu; Feb. 22—bark Albert, 17 days from Honolulu.

The following vessels have left San Francisco for this port. Feb. 15—ship Kenilworth, Baker, for Honolulu; Feb. 16—ship Henry Villard, Potter, for Hilo; Feb. 19—barkentine C. C. Funk, Challeston, for Honolulu; Feb. 21—Hawaiian steamer Iwa Henningsen, for Honolulu and schooner Mary Dodge, Hansen, for Kahului; Feb. 22—German bark H. Haddock, Barber, for Honolulu.

Departure of the Bennington.

The U. S. S. Bennington, Pigman commander, was about an hour late in getting away yesterday morning. When she did finally haul out there was a flourish of pocket handkerchiefs and waving of hands from many spots along the wharves and on vessels in port. The lady friends of the officers were there to say good-bye. The Bennington will go direct to San Francisco, remaining there about a week before proceeding to Mare Island.

The Daily Advertiser 75 cents a month. Delivered by carrier.

RIO JANEIRO IN PORT.

Turns Back on Account of Rough Weather.

The P. M. S. S. City of Rio de Janeiro, Russell commander, was telephoned 10 miles south at 6:30 a. m. yesterday. The fact of her calling at this port when she was supposed to be at Yokohama created no small amount of excitement. People along the waterfront began to offer theories for the appearance of the steamer. Some said her cargo had taken fire, and others that she had become uncontrollable in a terrible storm and had found it necessary to put into this port for safety.

Upon the arrival of the Rio de Janeiro it was learned that she had run short of coal and had found it necessary to call at this port for a new supply. The story of the incidents of the voyage leading to visit this port are substantially as follows:

The Rio de Janeiro left San Francisco for Yokohama and Hongkong on February 6th. Bad weather was experienced almost immediately and kept up almost incessantly, thus making it necessary to burn considerable over the usual amount of coal. For eight days and more the storm raged and the supply of coal decreased rapidly.

Under these trying circumstances the Rio de Janeiro behaved admirably.

Finding that the coal was running very short and that the weather was against much headway toward Yokohama, Captain Russell decided to make for Honolulu. The steamer was turned so dexterously by the captain and first officer that not a bit of water was shipped, although the storm was running at its highest.

Sails were put up and the voyage to this port made in about ten days.

During the trip the steamers afloat on the upper deck, the mizzen topmast and all the available wood, was thrown into the furnace as fuel.

The Rio de Janeiro docked at the Pacific Mail wharf where she will remain until after taking on 1000 tons of coal for the voyage to Japan.

CHINAMAN NOT WANTED HERE.

Tried to Get Ashore, but Had Small Success.

On the last trip of the Rio de Janeiro to San Francisco there was a Chinese individual aboard who was refused a landing and who was sent back to his native country on the same vessel. The Rio de Janeiro got into trouble and put into this port for coal. The Chinaman thought he saw a chance of getting ashore. Accordingly, as soon as the steamer docked, he sent word to a friend, who got out a six months' residence bond for him. Port Surveyor Sanders heard about the matter and, going aboard the Rio de Janeiro, made inquiries of the steward regarding the Chinaman. He surely could not have intended coming to this port, since the steamer upon which he came was bound for China and Japan. The steward gave Mr. Sanders the information that the Chinaman had been refused a landing in San Francisco. Minister Cooper was informed at once, and he gave orders to have the residence bond taken away from the Chinaman. At latest accounts he was still on the Rio de Janeiro meditating on man's inhumanity to man.

Japanese Bottle Thrower.

B. Reynolds, a Custom House guard detailed aboard the Chiyoda Maru for duty, came near being hit by a bottle at the hands of the third mate of that vessel shortly after midnight Wednesday.

It seems that Reynolds was asked to take a drink of saki, but remembering the rules of the Custom House, refused. The third mate was very urgent and caught Reynolds by the arm, but the latter still refused to go and used force to break away. The Japanese did not like this sort of thing, and after making another unsuccessful attempt to pull Reynolds down to where the saki was, he picked up a bottle and threw it at Reynolds' head. On account of the darkness his aim was untrue and the bottle missed him. At any rate the mate was locked up soon after he committed the little indiscretion.

A short business meeting of the American League was held in headquarters last night. Regular routine business was carried on. It was decided to hold the open meeting next Thursday night. Speakers for the occasion will be asked to make remarks on the matter of a third house spoken of at the last meeting. Two or three speakers have already given their consent to address the meeting.
